VOLUME CONTENTS

VOLUME 9, NO. 1 — JAN 1995

T. L. WARMS	1	Lexical and sublexical processing in aphasia
R. DE BLESER, J. FAISS and M. SCHWARZ	9	Rapid recovery of aphasia and deep dyslexia after cerebrovascular left-hemisphere damage in childhood
K. W. HIRSCH and E. FUNNELL	23	Those old, familiar things: age of acquisition, familiarity and lexical access in progressive aphasia
K. A. FLOWERS, C. ROBERTSON and M. R. SHERIDAN	33	Some characteristics of word fluency in Parkinson's disease
S. S. DRUMMOND and T. P. SIMMONS	47	Linguistic performance of female aphasic adults during group interaction
J. M. GURD	55	Frontal dissociations: evidence from Parkinson's disease

VOLUME 9, NO. 2 — APR 1996

	iii	Publisher's Notice
J. DAVIDOFF and J. MASTERSON	69	The development of picture naming: differences between verbs and nouns
M. STRAUSS HOUGH and S. DEMARCO	85	Phonemic retrieval in anomic aphasia: a case study
J. CHOLEWA and R. DE BLESER	95	Further neurolinguistic evidence for morphological fractionation within the lexical system
L. BUCHANAN, N. HILDEBRANDT and G. E. MACKINNON	113	Phonological processing of nonwords in deep dyslexia: typical and independent?
P. MACARUSO, J. L. LOCKE, S. T. SMITH* and S. POWERS	135	Short-term memory and phonological coding in developmental dyslexia
K. A. FLOWERS, M. R. SHERIDAN and H. SHADBOLT	147	Simulation of amnesia by normals on Rey's Auditory Verbal Learning Test

VOLUME 9, NO. 3 JUL 1996

iii Publishers's Notice

C. LUZZATTI and H. WHITAKER 157 Johannes Schenck and Johannes Jakob Wepfer: clinical and anatomical observations in the prehistory of neurolinguistics and neuropsychology

A. W. ELLIS, C. LUM and M. A. L. RALPH 165 On the use of regression techniques for the analysis of single case aphasic data

R. DE BLESER, J. BAYER and C. LUZZATTI 175 Linguistic theory and morphosyntactic impairments in German and Italian aphasics

H. BIRD and S. FRANKLIN 187 Cinderella revisited: a comparison of fluent and non-fluent aphasic speech

J. M. GURD 207 Word search in patients with Parkinson's disease

C. ROMANI and A. CALABRESE 219 The representation of geminate consonants: evidence from the phonological errors of an aphasic patient

VOLUME 9, NO. 4 OCT 1996

J. MARSHALL, T. PRING, S. CHIAT and J. ROBSON 237 Calling a salad a federation: an investigation of semantic jargon. Part 1—Nouns

J. MARSHALL, S. CHIAT, J. ROBSON and T. PRING 251 Calling a salad a federation: an investigation of semantic jargon. Part 2—Verbs

M. K. JÓNSDÓTTIR and R. C. MARTIN 261 Superordinate vs basic level knowledge in aphasia: a case study

G. COSSU, M. GUGLIOTTA and J. C. MARSHALL 289 Transposition errors in visual matching of orthographic stimuli: a study of normal children with implications for Orton's theory of developmental dyslexia

J. C. MARSHALL and J. M. GURD 297 Johann Gaspar Spurzheim: quack or Thomist?

M. H. KAUFMAN and N. BASDEN 301 Items relating to Dr Johann Gaspar Spurzheim (1776–1832) in the Henderson Trust Collection, formerly the Museum Collection of the Phrenological Society of Edinburgh: with an abbreviated iconography